JOHN W. FOSTER RETURNS. END OF HIS SEVEN MONTHS' MIS-SION FOR CHINA.

He Thinks the Peace Between China and Japan Likely to Be Permanent if Euro pean Powers Don't Meddle England's Waning Prestige and Russia's Growing Power in the East-American Influence.

WASHINGTON, July 8 .- John W. Foster has arrived at his bome in this city from China. where he served as counsellor to the Chinese peace envoys in the negotiations to end the war Mr. Foster has been absent from Washington on this mission nearly seven months, having started on Dec. 22. Until the day he left Shanghal for home, after having accompanied Lord Li to Formosa to transfer that island to the Japanese in accordance with the provisions of the treaty of Shimonoseki, Mr. Foster was engaged almost night and day in the labors of his office, and he comes back fatigued and ready for summer's rest. This he will take at his cottage on Lake Ontario, near the Thousand Isl. ands. The strain of his duties, however, has not been so great as has been represented. Reports have been printed to the effect that anxiety over the delivery of Formosa, and the danger to Lord Li's life in consequence of the disfavor in which he was held for ceding the territory, had aged Mr. Foster twenty years, These statements are great exaggerations.

In conversation with a United Press reporter this afternoon Mr. Foster said: "There is good reason to expect permanent peace between the two empires. The terms demanded by Japan may, under the circum-stances, be regarded as reasonable, especially in view of the retrocession of the Liao-Tung peninsula. The treaty has been observed and carried out by China with scrupulous good faith. Her conduct in this respect has created a very favorable impression in Japan."

Cable despatches announcing the conclusion of the arrangements for a loan of $80,000,-000 to China contain speculations as to China's ability to meet her financial obligations to ood to China contain speculations as to China's ability to meet her financial obligations to Japan. Is there any warrant for the intimation that she will fall in that regard?"

"I think not. The proceeds of the loan, which has been placed through Russian influence, will enable China to pay the first two installments pf the indemnity. These two installments cover aff the 'i-demnity, and the balance, extending over a' riod of six years, will be a comparatively asy burden for the Chinese Government, if at, skill whatever is shown in the management of the imperial revenues. The country has great resources, and has never yet failed in its financial engagements. Hence the peace concluded at Shimonoseki is not likely to be broken on account of the shortcomings of China. If a rupture occurs, it is more likely to be brought about by the intermeddling of the European powers."

"What is thought of the attitude of these powers toward the parties to the recent contest?"

"The intervention of Russia, on account of

"The intervention of Russia, on account of the terms of peace, was not unexpected, and it is not unnatural, in view of her predominating interest in the Orient, especially on the north Pacific coast of Asia. That France followed the lead of Russia created no surprise in the East; but that Germany should unite with them in a display of force against Japan was entirely unexpected, and it is not yet understood. British residents in China and Japan are very bitter in criticism of their Government for its abstention in the matter. They allege that its failure to join with the other powers in rearranging the terms of peace has lost for their country much prestige, and has left Russia a free hand in its influence and control at Pekin.

"Or all the countries diplomatically concerned in the contest, the United States has come out of it with the best grace. From the first, her interest has been recognized by both belligerents as purely unselfish, her only desire being to render such service as would bring about an honorable and lasting peace. The conduct of the State Department in its very delicate relations with both combatants has been marked by good judgment and by few mistakes, and the good offices of our Ministers and Consuls in China and Japan, where they represented the interests of both Governments, have been very useful and are highly appreciated by both nations."

Mr. Foster was asked why he declined to ac-

Mr. Foster was asked why he declined to accept the offer to remain in China as the adviser of the Government, the first offer ever made to any foreigner to enter the councils of that nation. He answered that, during the last twentytion. He answered that, during the last twenty-five years, he had passed the greater part of his time in foreign lands, and was now anxious to live the rest of his days in his own country.

Mr. Foster's statement that the demands of Japan were reasonable in view of the conditions obtaining at the time the negotiations began makes pertinent a summary of what Japan was induced to abate from those demands, illustrating the value to China of his services, inasmakes pertinent a summary of what Japan was induced to abate from those demands, illustrating the value to China of his services, inasmuch as the Chinese concede that, but for Mr. Foster's presence at Shimonoseki and Chee Foo, there probably would have been no agreement. The Pekin and Tien-Tsin Times, in an editorial review of the negotiations, says that the treaty as finally promulgated showed an abatement of one-third ($144,400,000) of the amount of the indemnity claimed; the reduction by one-half of the area of territory claimed on the mainiand (the Liao-Tung peninsula, which Japan promised Russis to return to China); the reduction of the payment to be made by China of the cost of the Japanese army of occupation, pending the performance of treaty obligations by China, from the whole estimated sum ($400,000); the restriction of occupation of Chinese territory by Japanese troops to one post-Wei-Hei-Wei in the province of Shan Tung—and the abandonment of the right to occupy Feng-Tien Fu (Moukden), in the province of Shan Tung. There was also a complete abandonment by Japan of the claim for special privileges to her subjects trading in China, the immunity from certain taxation imposed by China upon other foreigners doing business in her territory, and the right of Japanese traders to pay for their purchases in China in the currency of Japan.

Mr. Foster brings home with him many valuable souvenirs of his trip, Conspicuous among them is a pair of most magnificent vasce, presented to him by the merchants of Tokio in recognition of his services in bringing about the peace. sented to him by the merchants of Tokio in recognition of his services in bringing about the peace.

BARONDESS MADE A CITIZEN. Says He's Not an Anarchist when Questioned by Judge Benedict.

Joseph Barondess, who says he is no longer a President of the Cloakmakers' Union, or any other union, became a citizen of the United States yesterday. Harondess applied for his first papers in 1892. Since then he has devoted himself chiefly to fighting the socialistic wing of the cloakmakers. He has been suspected of anarchism, nihilism, and various other things

Judge Benedict, before whom he went to get Judge Benedict, before whom he went to get his papers resterday, evidently had some such abspicions. Barondess was in a crowd of a hundred or more, and had to stand in line some time before his turn came. The Judge asked him the usual question, and then said:

"Are you one of those Nihilist fellows?"

"No. sir," said Barondess. "I am not."

"Are you an Anarchist?" asked the Judge.

"No. sir," said Barondess.

"Then you believe in order and good government?" asked the Judge.

"I siways have, sir, I do," answered Barondess.

The Judge scanned the papers; then looked the Judge scanned the papers; then nows of at Barondess, and finally signed them. Sarondess could not be found last night. He sawith his wife and child on the top floor at 2 Broome street. His wife said that she ought he was a social Democrat. She was proud that he was an American Broom Harondess is now in the advertising siness. Hesides being a cloakmaker agitator. Used to run a newspaper. used to run a newspaper.

GRUBS IN CITY HALL PARK.

THE NEW CLEFELAND BARY. Mother and Daughter Doing Well-Speen

BUZZARD'S BAY, July 8.—President Cleveland was so satisfied this morning with the condition of Mrs. Cleveland and the baby daughter, born yesterday, that he slipped away from Gray Gables for a day's trouting in a brook ten miles distant, in Sandwich. He was attired in an old rusty suit of clothes. A brown hat with a broad loose brim flapped in the foggy breeze and obscured the entire upper part of his face. But he was happy. There was no mistaking that. He smiled and looked most contented. He went down the road in his own carriage with Joe Jefferson and Charles B. Jefferson. They fished all day in Mr. Jefferson's private brook, captured a small basketful of trout and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The fishing party drove into the bay village at dusk after their day's outing. The President greeted his friends cordially, drove Mr. Jefferson and son no the bill to "The Crow's Nest," and hurried away home with the evening mail. He learned that Mrs. Cleveland and the baby had been comfortable all day. There has been no indication of a desire among the townspeople to show any appreciation of the new honor that the place has received. Efforts in the past to show marked attentions to the occupants of the Gables have not been met with warmth, and the Cape Codders have too much local pride to be demonstrative. One citizen to-night voiced the feelings of others in saying:

too much local pride to be demonstrative. One citizen to night voiced the feelings of others in saying:

"If it had happened in any other place on the bay the people would have had a band out in town to-night and would have given the President something to make him grin all over his face when he was in the village."

When the naming of the girl is suggested it is intimated that the President will be called upon to exercise his judgment and taste. That the President is more fond of the name Frances than any other and that he would have given either Ruth or Esther that name in preference to any other is believed here generally.

There are others, however, who assert that Mrs. Cleveland will give her third daughter, as she did Ruth and Esther, a Bible name. One of the guessers to-night put it thus:

"If Mrs. Cleveland goes to the Bible for the name it will be Naomi, for 'Naomi gathered sheaves with Ruth.'"

SAN FRANCISCO CROOK NABBED Arrested Because His Picture to in the Rogues' Gallery. While Detective Sergeants Grady and Doran were passing through Madison Square Park on Sunday they noticed a man whose picture they remembered was in the Rogues' Gallery. They decided to arrest him as a suspicious person and take him to Police Headquarters. They there learned that their prisoner was a well-known Western crook who is wanted in San Francisco for burglary, grand larceny, petit larceny, and bonds. His name is Richard Bernard. He is bonds. His name is Richard Bernard. He is also known under the names of Dick Wilson. William Davis, and Henry Robinson. He is best known to the police as Dick Wilson. In the early part of 1893 he and two confederates, also well-known crooks, robbed a silk house in San Francisco of $15,000 worth of goods. He was captured, and on July 20, 1893, released on $4,500 bail. He furnished straw bonds and skipped. On a previous occasion, when arrested for petit larveny, he forfeited genuine bail which was furnished for him. After leaving San Francisco he came East and began robbing boarding houses in this city. On Dec. 5, 1893, he was arrested for robbing a lodging house in Twenty-first street, near Ninth avenue, and drawing a revolver on a woman whom he found in the house. No complaint was made against him on this occasion, and he was released. The police of this city did not know at this time that their prisoner was wanted in San Francisco.

Francisco.

He was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning, and remanded by Magistrate Flammer until this atternoon. He will be held to await requisition papers from San Francisco. When arrested yesterday Bernard made no resistance. He described himself as a clerk, 26 years old, and said he lived at 211 West Twenty-second street.

"WERE NOT REARED TO WORK." Two Young Women Have Their Father Arrested for Non-Support.

Leonard Pruesch, a sash and blind maker of 612 Lorimer street, Greenpoint, was held in $300 bail for trial in the Efen Street Police Court yesterday for neglecting to support his two daughters, Lena and Sophia, 16 and 18 years old, respectively. Pruesch's wife died a year ago, and soon afterward he married again. The stepmother, it is alleged, after ill treating the girls for several months, put them out of sister who lives in Har lem cared for them awhile, and they had lem cared for them awhile, and they had Pruesch arrested for abandonment. Pruesch was put under bonds to pay them $10 a week for their support. He appealed the case on the ground that as they did not live in Williamsburgh they were not liable to become a burden on the county.

A few weeks ago the girls moved to Williamsburgh, and made a demand on their father for support. He refused to have anything to do with them, and on Saturday they went to the Ewen Street Court and asked Justice Laimbeer for a warrant against him. Lena said that she and her sister had never known what it was to want for food until they found themselves practically destitute. She added that neither had been reared to work, and the money their father spent in appealing the first case would have supported her and her sister for a year. Pruesch pleaded not guilty, and was subsequently released on bail.

BREWSTER WILL SUE DIXON. The Brooklyn Pastor Said Harsh Things of the Reformer.

Engene V. Brewster, the former counsel of the Law Enforcement Society in Brooklyn, has grievance against the Rev. A. C. Dixon, pastor of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, threatens the latter with a suit for $10,000 damages for alleged libel.

When Mr. Brewster resigned from the society a few weeks ago, after the publication of a list a few weeks ago, after the publication of a list of alleged disreputable houses, the Rev. Mr. Dixon addressed a personal letter to each member of the society, asking for a contribution of $25 to carry on its work, and placing the responsibility for the blunder of furnishing the list upon Mr. Brewster.

President George F. Elliott of the society has also got in troubled waters through his connection with the organization. At the meeting of the Kings County Board of Supervisors yesterday, Supervisor Schottler of the Sixteenth ward offered a resolution setting forth that the Law Enforcement Society had rendered itself obnoxious to the public, and through its methods was endangering Republican supremacy in city and county, and asking for the removal of Mr. Elliott from his $5,000.a-year lob ascounsel of the Board. After a hot debate the resolution was adopted by a vote of 15 to 14. As a two-thirds vote is necessary to remove an officer of the Board. Mr. Elliott will retain his place until enough votes are secured to out him.

BROKE FATHER GESSNER'S RULES. The Father Mathew Society's Connection with His Church Dissolved. ELIZABETH, N. J., June 8.- Two weeks ago eight members of the Father Mathew Temperance and Benevolent Society connected with St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, attended a sociable in Grand Army Hall. There were round dances, in which the young men took part, and they stayed at the hall until 3 A. M. It is against the rules laid down by the Hev. Father Martin Gessner, priest of the parish, for any one of his flock to remain at any festive gather-ing after 11 o'clock, or to participate in round dances.

ing after 11 o'clock, or to participate in round dances.

Father Gessner tried to get the Father Mathew's Soniety to expel the eight young men who broke the church rules, but the society rofused to interfere with the liberties of its members. The leadiers said that the society had nothing te do with any question except that of temperance. Yesterday at early mass Father Gessner denounced the society from the altar.

After administering a rebuke to the young men who had attended the societie, the priest disadved the society's connection with the church. It is said that the society is the strongest organization connected with Father Gessner's parish. It has nearly 200 members.

Inventory of the Whiskey Trust.

CHICAGO, July 8,-Receiver McNulta to-day filed an inventory of the personal property of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company, the Distilling and Carle Feeding Company. The total is $1.087,499. The largest items are bills receivable, accounts, &c. $282,799; grain, tools, supplies, &c. $348,991; personal accounts, distilleries, less bad debts, and rebates unchanged, $418,919. An item charges Nelson Morris with owing $19,671, and another declares the receiver has $,914,068 gallons of spirits in bond.

A DISTURBING ANOMALY.

THE PROPOSED UNWIELDY REPUB.

LICAN STATE COMMITTEE. Would-be Saviers of the Party Would Depose Platt-Machine Leaders Claim that Fassett Will Be Whipped Out of His Boots in the Coming Campaign. ALBANY, July 8.-Deputy Secretary of State Davidson, speaking this evening of the proposition by Cornelius N. Bliss and others to enlarge the Republican State Committee and oust Sena-

"I regret that these would-be saviors of the party have no higher aim than that of deposing Thomas C. Platt from its leadership. Who would they substitute in his place? Would it be John Milholland, who was a good friend of Mr. Platt until the latter refused to stand by him in his attempt to disintegrate the party; or Cornelius N. Bliss, who went to Washington during the Harrison Administration estensibly to intercede for the appointment of Warner Miller for Secretary of the Treasury, but, unlike Miles Standish, pleaded for himself, and is now doing all that he can to distract and weaken the party; or J. Sloat Fassett, who owes much to Mr. Platt for political attainments in the past and who is engaged in 'killing' him now because he and the party at large preferred Levi P. Morton for Governor?

"As to the other issue raised, there can be little question that the proposed enlargement of the State Committee to 150 would not be beneficent to the party as a working force or as a deliberative body. A State committeeman representing one Assembly district, with a Chairman of a county committee representing several districts, would be a disturbing, unpractical, and disintegrating anomaly."

WAR IN THE REPUBLICAN CAMP. Platt's Followers Claim that Fassett Knows

He Will Be Beaten. Athany, July 8.—The Republicans of the new Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Senatorial districts are having lively times over the choice of Senatorial candidates. In the Thirty-ninth district, embracing Cayuga and Seneca countles, ex-Senators Thomas Hunter and William L. Sweet and Assemblyman Benjamin Wilcox of Cayuga are fighting for the nomination. Wilcox is the present member from Cayuga, and if he can capture the Cayuga delegates is said to have the best chance. Hunter was elected by the

the best chance. Hunter was elected by the Republicans and Prohibitionists as Senator from the old Twenty-sixth district for the sessions of 1890-91 and 1892-93.

Sweet preceded Hunter. Both are much older than Wilcox, who has heretofore been counted an anti-Platt man, but who followed Speaker Hamilton Fish into the Platt camp last January and is not now regarded as hostile to Platt.

Advices from the Fortieth Senatorial district, which includes Chemung, Tompkins, and Schuyler counties, are that Assemblyman Edwin C. Stewart of Schuyler, a strong Platt organization man, is leading all other candidates, and the machine Republicans say that the anti-Platt forces of J. Sloat Fassett will not be worth counting when the battle is on. It is said by Platt's workers who have been over the ground that Fassett will be whipped out of his boots by the floods, Langdons, and other local leaders who fought Fassett when he was a Platt man and are now in the Platt line fighting him just as hard.

It was furthermore claimed in Chemung as hard.

It was furthermore claimed in Chemung county by Piatt's followers that Fassett already realizes that he is beaten, and is spreading himself over the State preaching the gospel of anti-Plattism for the express purpose of keeping away from his Senatorial district that he may declare later that the utter route of his forces was due to his not being able to direct their QUAT'S BATTLE FOR SUPREMACK. He Fails to Secure a Compromise in His Visit to Seranton.

SCHANTON, July 8 .- Senator Quay has failed to effect any compromise with the Hastings supporters in Lackawanna county. All the morning he was waited upon by delegates, leading Republicans from various parts of the county and from Susquehanna and Wayne counties being among them. His chief caller of the day, however, was William Connell, the wealthy coal operator, who leads the Hastings forces. For more than an hour they were closeted, but the result of their conference was without result, Senator Quay refusing to talk and Mr. Connell simply saying that his attitude and Mr. Connell simply saying that his attitude toward Senator Quay remained unchanged, and that the battle in the county would go on. The Susquehanna men assured the Senator that the delegates from that county would be for him. The one occurrence of the morning that nettled the Senator was a message that that nettied the Senator was a message that Judge Willard, whom he expected to meet, had left the city this morning for Philadelphia, and his terse remark of "He's gone, let him go." was taken to mean that Judge Willard and the Senator were at odds in this contest. MEADVILLE, Pa., July 8.—The Republican County Committee met to-day and endorsed Senator Quay for Chairman of the State Com-mittee.

IOWA'S REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

To Be Nominated at the State Convention in Des Moines To-morrow.

DES MOINES, July 8 .- The Republican State Convention will be held in this city on Wednesday for the nomination of candidates for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Railway Commissioner. There is practically no contest for any of the offices is practically no contest for any of the offices below Governor, but for that position there are seven avowed candidates, with two favorite sons and a few dark horses.

The delegates have been selected, and the can-didates have figured out what, to their minds, indicates their strength. Despite the published figures as to known instructions and indicated preferences, there is a wide diversity of opinion regarding the number of delegates who will preferences, there is a wine diversity or opinion regarding the number of delegates who will yote for each candidate on the first ballot. The latest figures given out by the Drake men in this city are: Drake, 355; Harlan, 217; Parrott, 160; McFarland, 115; Harsh, 01; Ormsby, 28; Kamrar, 20. This leaves nearly 300 delegates not counted.

Albany's New Republican Paper.

ALBANY, July 8 .- Albany's new daily paper, the State, made its first appearance this after-noon, and to the surprise of a number of local anti-Piatt Republicans it did not announce an anti-Platt Republicans it did not announce an anti-boss policy. It declares for protection, but dodges the party factional issue and asserts a determination to support the Republican party on State and national lines. Its independent activities are, it is said, to be reserved for home use, and it does not promise to support the local Republican machine run by State Committeeman William Barnes, Jr. How the new paper can support Mr. Barnes as a State committeeman and oppose him as a local boss is not explained. on texplained.

The new paper will, it is said, be the organ of Mayor Wilson, Albany's "reform" Mayor, Corporation Counsel Rudd, who is Mayor Wilson's right hand man, is Secretary and Treasurer of the company, and the editor is Edwin Atwell, who is also President of the company.

Collis's district, the new Thirtieth Assembly, has resigned from those organizations and joined the Alwonquin Club, the Tammany Hall organization of the district. Mr. Mossopp was in a hurry, apparently, for he got President Augustus W. Peters out of bed on the morning of July 4 to hand in his application.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONIZERS. Chairman Hinkley Asks for Authority to

Send Men to Monroe County,

Major James W. Hinkley, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, sent out letters vesterday to the members of the committee asking for proxies to authorize him to appoint a committee of five with full power to investigate and settle the Democratic differences in Monroe county. The circular of Major Hinkley also announced that the Chairman of the committee (himself) and the Secretary, Charles R. De Freest, are to be ex-officio members of the committee. This will make a committee of seven. Last night Chairman Hinkley received responses which led him to believe that the majority of the committee is with him in this effort to straighten out the entanglement in Monroe. There is a very bitter feeling between the two factions in the county, but Senator Hill and Senator Murphy and Major Hinkley and the Cleveland people believe that the committee will be able to fix up matters and prevent a violent contest in the Democratic State Convention.
The step taken by Major Hinkley yesterday is the first serious one looking toward Democratic harmony in the State. It is the result of conferences between Mr. Hill, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Hinkley, and others. A great deal depends on what committeemen are selected by Major Hinkley.
If this contest in Monroe can be settied, all other apparent differences in the Democratic party of the State, it is believed, can be adjusted.
The Tammany situation the Democratic State leaders will not discuss until after the arrival of ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant, who sais from Liverpool on July 27. Mr. Croker is booked to sail two weeks later for this country. The GraceFairchild-Smith M. Weed contingent in the State are somewhat sullen. They will demand the old-time repesentation of one-half in the Democratic State Convention, and also one-half of the State, county, Judiciary, Senate, and Assembly nominations.
Major Hinkley learned last night that Mayor will be able to fix up matters and prevent a vio

of the State, county, judiciary, Senate, and Assembly nominations.

Major Hinkley learned last night that Mayor Schleren of Brooklyn will not be a candidate for renomination. Mayor Schleren's family want to go to Europe, and they want the Mayor to go with them, and Mayor Schleren has told his friends flatly that he does not care for a renomination. Possibly the opposition of Jacob Worth has had something to do with Mayor Schleren's determination in this matter. But, anyhow, it calls for consideration, inasmuch as the Shepard Democrats wish to nominate their leader as the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Brooklyn. Such a nomination is distasteful to Hugh McLaughlin and his friends, who believe that Mr. Shepard and his coterie are bent on destroying the McLaughlin machine in Kings county. Mayor Schleren's determination not to be a candidate precluitates a new and interesting situation on the harmonizers.

Senator Hill and Major Hinkley and Senator Murphy are prepared to do their utmost to make things comfortable in New York county, but nothing will be determined until after the arrival of Mr. Grant and Mr. Croker.

BLISS AND STRONG ARE OUT. Did the Mayor Really "Promise" to Make

Meade a Magistrate. Cornelius N. Bliss, who used to drop in frequently on Mayor Strong and stay to tea, has not been at the office since the Mayor appointed the City Magistrates and Justices of the Court of Special Sessions four weeks ago. The fact that there has been a falling out between Mayor Strong and Mr. Bliss has not become generally known, but this is not Mr. Bliss's fault. He has known, but this is not Mr. Bliss's fault. He has spoken very bitterly of the Mayor and his failure to play the sort of Republican politics which Mr. Bliss and his friends would like in making appointments. These remarks have been made to men who have asked Mr. Bliss to use his Influence with the Mayor to secure them places. To one of these Mr. Bliss said:

"I shall not go near the Mayor's office or ask a favor of Mayor Strong again. I don't seem to have any influence in that quarter."

The reason for this attitude of Mr. Bliss toward the Mayor was told by a friend of the former yesterday:

"Mr. Eliss, Gen. McCook, Commissioner Brookfield, Job Hedges, and other political friends of the Mayor." said he, "believed that it would be good politics for the Mayor to appoint Police Justice Clarence W. Meade a City Magistrate. They urged the Colonel to make the appointment and believed that a they had the Mayor's assurance that Meade would be named. Meade was not appointed. Mr. Bliss has had an experience in which one of Mayor Strong's changes of mind plays a part, and, like some other persons, he doesn't like it."

Three Police Commissioners transacted business vesterday in the absence of Commissioner Andrews. Gen. Rodenbough, Chief of the Bureau of Elections, reported the new division into election districts of the thirty-five Assembly districts (which do not include the recent) ment, which is the work of Policeman Henry Hildenbrand, on duty at the Election Bureau, the thirty-five Assembly districts are divided Into 1,379 election districts.

A protest from Alderman Woodward of the new Twenty-third district was read, which said that several election districts were badly laid out. Commissioners Parker and Grant said that they had received similar complaints from that they had received similar complaints from other persons.

"I have taiked with the Chief Clerk of the Fareau of Elections," said Commissioner Parker," and have gone over some of the ground with him. This matter of dividing the districts according to the law, which provides that there shall be as nearly as possible 250 voters to an election district, is one of great difficulty. Some Assembly districts overlap Congressional districts, and that must be looked out for. There is one election district where a separate booth must be erected for one man to vote for the Judicial candidate. I think that the work in general has been excellently done, though perhaps some slight alterations may be necessary before we approve the report."

"I agree with you," said President Roosevelt. "In believing that the work has been well done, but I think we should be very careful in this matter, and I appoint a special meeting for tomorrow morning to act on the report."

OFFICEHOLDERS AS DELEGATES. Might Go Under Brookfield When They

Couldn't Under Lauterbach, Commissioner Brookfield said yesterday that Republican officeholders were admitted as delegates from New York city to the last State Conention of the party, and that he sees no reason why they should not be admitted to the next why they should not be admitted to the next one. A Republican who does not held an office, said in answer to this proposition that, if office-holders were admitted as delegaces on the occa-sion referred to it was because William Brook-field, as President of the Republican County Committee, had improperly certified their elec-tion in violation of the constitution of the county organization, which expressly provides that no certificate of election as delegate to any nominating convention shall be issued to any person holding any public office of emolument, MOB AFTER CHURCH THIEF.

IRISH, ITALIANS, JEWS, AND CHINA-MEN ALL IN IT.

The Fellow Stole the Crown from a Status of the Virgin at the Altar in St. Andrew's Church at Evening Prayer-Reserves Out, He was a sour-looking, tall man, with a long face. His clothes were shabby, and he moved along the street with a shuffle. Turning the corner of Duane street out of Park row about 8 o'clock last night he stopped and braced an undertaker for a nickel. "I'm nearly starved," he said "and I've got to have money."

The nickel was refused, and the sour-looking fellow shambled along toward the corner of City Hall place. He stopped in front of St. Andrew's Catholic Church, and seeing the doors open he walked in. About 200 persons were there, kneeling in prayer. Most of them were women. The stranger shuffled up the middle aisle and entered the vestry.

When he came out his coat was bulged at the sides and he held his arms as if he had something beneath the coat. He walked to the altar and removed a jewelled metallic crown from the head of a statue of the Virgin. Placing the crown beneath his coat, he coolly walked down the aisle toward the door. Many of the women in the church stood up, and in whispered tones talked of the queer-looking stranger. One woman finally shouted out loudly:
"Stop that man; he's a thief!"

That was the signal for a rush toward the door. The sour-looking fellow began to run, but at the door he was captured by one of the few men present, a man named Hayes. A number of women ran into the street and called for help. Policeman Farrington was on the corner. He collared the prisoner, and was starting away with him when a censer dropped from beneath the prisoner's coat. The women seeing this gathered closer, and one of them, a big, stout woman, shouted:

"Let him alone, officer, and we'll take care of him. The divils in 'im that 'ud take the crown woman, shouted:

"Let him alone, officer, and we'll take care of him. The divils in 'im that 'ud take the crown off the statue."

Policeman Farrington attempted to force his way through the crowd on luane street, and several women punched at the prisoner, and one struck him on the head with her umbrella.

Then there was another rush, and the policeman, to save his prisoner from the mob, dragged him back into the church.

Hy this time word had been carried to the sexton, Michael Higgins, who lives at 29 City Hall place. Higgins hurried around and locked the front door of the church, keeping the crowd out on the sidewalk. The side door leading to City Hall place was opened, and through this door Farrington got out with his prisoner.

The crowd soon learned of this, and started around the corner. Farrington and his prisoner began to run toward Pearl street, and the crowd chased them. Officer lougherty responded to a whistle and headed off the crowd, but over a hundred women followed through Pearl to Mott street, where they made another cifort to get at the church robber.

By the time the Elizabeth street station was reached the crowd had swelled in numbers until there were fully 1.500 men and women on the block, including Jews, Italians, and Chinamen.

The Chinese contingent had been added going through Mott street, the Italian contingent had been picked up in Pearl street, and in Bayard street the Jews had joined the crowd. As they understood it there had been a rabbi (not robber) in a Catholic church, and they supposed the man under arrest had murdered a rabbi.

It required the efforts of the entire reserve force to drive the mob away from the station house at last. house at last.

The prisoner described himself as Oscar Yonberry, a machinist aged 50 years, of 58 Market street, Newark. He had stolen a silver urn, the crown, several gold society badges, a priest's embroidered stole, two nackages of silver bins, and a brass knob belonging to the church door.

TORE UP THE BRIDAL WREATH. The Bridegroom Ran Out of the House and There Was No Wedding.

BRIDGEPORT, July 8 .- All the arrangement for the marriage to-day of Annie Kerwin of East Bridgeport to Robert Lilesew had been made, but a few minutes before the time set for the bridal party to leave the home of the bride for St. John's Church the bridegroom disappeared. The popularity of the contracting parties had brought many of their friends to her home. Outside the house there was a crowd waiting to see the bridal party enter the carriages. Just before the time to start a man rushed from the basement, and going up to one of the hackmen gave him an order. Jumping in the carriage gave him an order. Jumping in the carriage he was driven rapidly away. A few minutes later another man harriedly left the house, and, entering another carriage, drove off.

The first man was the fiseing bridegroom, and the other Maurice Zeuka, a consin of the bride. Zeuka was in pursuit of Lilesew. He drove direct to the railroad station, where he found Lilesew arrayed in his wedding suit waiting for a train to leave the city. There was a scene at the station.

Zcuka demanded that Lilesew return to the house and make Miss Kerwin his wife as he had promised. Lilesew refused and Zeuka drew a revolver and threatened to shoot the recreant bridegroom on the spot unless he kept his promise. After some difficulty Lilesew, prucically a prisoner of Zeuka, entered the carriage and the two men were driven to the home of Miss Kerwin.

When Miss Kerwin learned that her intended by shared had any area way who took off the wreath husband had run away she took off the wreath of bridal roses she wore, and, tearing it in pieces, distributed the roses among her friends, and insisted that the festivities go on as if the

The breakfast was being served when Zeuka appeared, leading Lilesew with a strong grip on him. Miss Kerwin paid no attention to the re-turn of the runaway, and seemed the merriest of the whole party. After a short time Lilesew

Miss Kerwin says she is thankful that Lilesew ran away before they were married. Once before all arrangements had been made for the wedding, but when the time came Lilesew was

REFORM HITS HER HARD. A Sample of the Every-day Kicking at the

She came into the office of the chief clerk of the Bureau of Incumbrances yesterday afternoon. Her wagon had been "taken," and besides that the police had told her that she could no longer display goods on the stoop line in front of her store. "I come here," she said, "to get a permit to sell me goods." "What goods?" demanded the clerk.

"What goods?" demanded the clerk.

"Second-hand furniture," she replied.

"Don't need any permit," said the clerk.

"Oh, bad luck t' you," she said. "I've paid twenty-five for me license an'now ye's wont let me put me nose outside me door. There'll soon be no livin' with ye at all, an' we'll have to stay in the house altogether. It's the curse o' food that's on the city since youse people come in."

"Sorry, madam—" began the clerk.

"An' I have a bye." she said, interrupting him, "and we had some money saved up—him an'me. It was $500, and d'yes know what he did with it? He takes it an' blows it in at the last election t' bate Tammany Hail and put in the likes o' you. Had cess i' you and him, too, for the throuble he's brought on us. Sure, I never had any trouble with Tammany people at all. I tell yer he'il not vote for yer again, ye picture o' bad linck, ye."

"I - I —" began the clerk.

"Oh, g'wan don't be talkin." she said as she turned her back and waiscd away.

"I's surprising," said the clerk to the reporter. "how many people there are kicking these days."

BE VACCINATED OR STAY HOME. Two Hundred Newburgh Children Barred Out of the Public Schools.

NEWBURGH, July 8.—Compulsory vaccination is the subject of heated discussion here at present. About two hundred children have been excluded from the public schools for the past year on account of non-compliance with the orders of the Buard of Education. Originally about four hundred pupils were shut out, many of whom have since obeyed the varcination about four hundred pupils were shut out, many of whom have since obeyed the vascination order, while others have entered private schools or have remained without achool privileges.

A large number of citizens, including the Major and three ex-Majors, have petitioned the Hoard of Education to resolud its order, as the city at present is free from contagious diseases. The Board will give a hearing to the petitioners on the 17th inst.

THE FERRYBOAT BERGEN'S PERIL. Crowded and Helpiess for Many Minutes in the North River. The Hoboken ferryboat Bergen on the 6:10 o'clock trip from Barclay street to Hoboken, last evening, was crowded with commuters on the D., L. & W. R. R. and residents of Hoboken and the Heights. When she was in midstream there was a loud noise, the beat shook from stem to stern, and then the machinery stopped. The passengers became alarmed as the boat be gan to drift helplessly with the tide. A part of the machinery had broken.

The pilot, when he found that he could not control the boat, whistled for assistance, and the tugboat Tice, which was steaming down the river, responded. A line was made fast to the Bergen and she was alternately pushed and towed to Hoboken. The Bergen was then hauled around into the adjoining slip, and a number of machinists set to work to repair the break, the nature of which the ferry company officials would say nothing about.

The Bergen has triple-expansion engines and a single shaft, with a propeller at each end. One of the machinists at work on the boat last night said he thought that the propeller had struck a log in the river and broken the shaft.

MR. GARLAND STILL ON EARTH. The Pan-Electric Statesman for Free Silver

WASHINGTON, July 8 .- "There will be seven Presidential tickets in the field next year." said ex-Attorney-General Garland to-day while discussing the political situation. While admit-ting that he is out of active politics Mr. Garland is a rampant free sliver man, and predicts serious trouble throughout the land if the silver question is ignored, as he fears it will be.
"Yes," said he, "there will be seven Presidential tickets in the field. There will be a nominal Democratic and a nominal Republican ticket, bimetallic and single gold standard tickets, a Populist ticket, a Prohibition ticket, and a woman's rights ticket. The outlook is not at all encouraging to the Democrats in any of the silver States, and although the conven tion in Kentucky complimented Secretary Carlisle by refusing to adopt a free silver platform I will wager five to one that the Republicans carry that State at the coming election."

SENATOR BLACKBURN CALLED OFF. Asked by the State Committee to Make No More Speeches in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, July 8. Senator Blackburn has been called off the stump in Kentucky. He had an appointment to speak at Carlisle to-day. He went there and took the stand for twelve minutes, telling why he could not speak Senator Blackburn is still so rabid in favor of free coinage that the Democratio State Central Committee thought the interest of the party would be better served if he kept out of the fight. Consequently a letter was addressed him by Chairman Carroll asking him to make no speeches. Senator Blackburn said he had worn the Democratic honors so long that he was well accustomed to it, and did not think he could work for any other party. However, he said, h would do as he had been requested, and make o more speeches.

UNCLE SAM AND MR. BRADLEY They May Fight Over Delivering Mail a Asbury Park on Sunday.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 8.—This town put its station on land leased from the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, which stipulated that no train should stop within a mile of Wesley Lake, the northern boundary of the Grove, on Sunday. Nevertheless, Asbury Park received its mail yesterday, for the first time in its history, from a train that stopped at the Asbury Park station.

The Government, it is said, is about to insist that Sunday mails for the Park be put off at this station, instead of at Interlaken and then carted here. Second Assistant Postmaster-General Neilson says that this must be done. It is said the religious officials of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting will make a big fight for the preservation of the holiness of the Lord's Day.

NOTICE GIVEN OF LYNCHINGS. A Committee of Gretna, La., Placards the Coming Fate of Certain Men. NEW ORLEANS, July 8 .- The failure of the Grand Jury of Jefferson Parish to indict the men who took part in the lynching of John Frye, the firebug, in Gretna, opposite New Orleans, a few days ago, has encouraged the men who were engaged in that lynching. The town is posted with notices signed "Citizens' Committee," announcing that its members will promptly lynch he firebugs if any more mysterious fires occur in the town. The peculiarity of the notice is that the names of the men who are accused of being firebugs and whose lynching is threatened are given, some twenty men being enumerated as likely to be hanged, the threatened men being prominent in politics, and some of them near relatives of the officials in the parish.

HOT FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Covernment Troops Were Deceived by a Forged Message and Led Into a Narrow Defite-The Insurgents Charged in Fine Style, But Eventually Were Driven Back,

HAVANA, July 8 .- Advices that have reached here from Santiago de Cuba are to the effect that Major Sanchez, commanding a Govern-ment force, discovered 1,500 insurgents under ommand of the rebel chief, Rabi, strongly posted near Manzanillo. Major Sanchez sent a message to Major Asnar inviting him to join forces and attack the rebels. The insurgents captured the messenger and hanged him. They then sent a reply to Major Sancher's message, signing Major Asnar's name to it, directing that an attack on the insurgents be made at another point. Major Canchez fell into the trap and advanced as directed in the forged message. His force was attacked suddenly by the robels in a parrow defile. The insurgents charged the Spanish troops in fine style,

The troops were unable to manœuvre owing to the lack of space. Two sergennts, one at the head of thirty and the other at the head of twelve men, gained commanding positions, and succeeded in checking the insurgents, shooting all that came within range of their rifles.

Their fire was so deadly that the rebels made no further attempt to charge and the troops were enabled to escape from the defile in which they had been ambushed. The Government force then attacked the main positions of the rebels and compelled them to retreat. The insurgents lost 280 killed. The Government loss was fifty killed and wounded. SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 8 .- Gens. Salcedo and Bazan made a reconnoissance at Ysteras yesterday, and had two slight encounters with insurgent bands. Six rebels were killed. The Government lost two killed and six wounded.
